What is Going On Tonight. Francis S. Long Post, No. 30, G. A. R. meets in Memorial hall.

Today (Saturday) has been set aside as Bank day by the committee in charge of the thrift campaign in this city and people will be urged to make a special endeavor to put some money in some one of the local banks during the day. At a recent meeting of those who have volunteered to aid the Y. M. C. A. in the thrift campaign, which starts today and lasts for one week, J. D. Elmendorf, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was made chairman of the thrift campaign committee, and A. W. Buchanan was appointed secretary and treasurer; Valentine L. Murphy, publicity agent and W. C. Norris was elected president of public speaking. The following were appointed to represent the various banks and industries of the city: George S. Elliott, Willimantic Trust company; A. W. Buchanan, Windham National bank; C. W. Hill, city industries; L. A. Arnold, life insurance companies; Samuel Chace, Willimantic Chamber of Commerce; C. B. Flordan, Willimantic Business Men's association; J. B. Mustard, Building and Loan association; Mrs. G. C. Moon, Willimantic Women's club; Valentine L. Murphy, government war savings committee.

THE H. C. MURRAY CO.

The eight days during which the campaign is to run were separated into classes, and four-minute speakers have been chosen to talk to the public each evening, choosing the subject for the following day for their topics. The days, beginning with Saturday, Jan. 17, have been arranged as follows: Saturday, bank day; Sunday, Thrift Sunday; Monday, Life insurance day; Tuesday, own your own home day; Wednesday, make a will day; Thursday, thrift and industry day; Friday, family budget day; Saturday, pay your bills promptly day.

Monday night at the town hall there is to be a church service and a special stress will be laid on the need of thrift to fight the high cost of living, and people will be urged to co-operate in making the campaign a success. During the week there will be four-minute men at all the local theatres.

Mayor Charles A. Gates issued the following proclamation Friday to the citizens of Willimantic: Whereas, the U. S. Government, the American Bankers' Association, the U. S. League of Building & Loan Associations, the National Federation of Creditors, The National Association of Real Estate Boards, The National Association of Life Underwriters, The Canadian Life Underwriters' Association, The American Live Convention, The Retail Credit Men's National Association, The National Credit Men's Association (Wholesalers), The Retailers' Commercial Union, The Association of Life Agency Officers, The General Federation of Women's Clubs, are co-operating with the Young Men's Christian Association in promoting a National Thrift Week beginning January 17, 1920, for the purpose of teaching young men and boys to think straight about their money matters in the realm of earning, spending, saving, investing and giving, and

Whereas, it is intended to emphasize during this week bank service life insurance, home ownership, making a will, thrift in industry, the family budget, prompt payment of bills, and sharing with others, as some of the important economic doctrines which need to be taught to help in the development of their characters, and

Whereas, our government has appeared to the people to help re-establish normal economic conditions at the earliest possible moment by the wide practice of a broad conception of thrift, making it a patriotic duty for every good citizen to practice economy.

Therefore, I, Charles A. Gates, mayor of Willimantic, being firmly convinced that the National Thrift Week Programme as it is played out is a movement worthy of support, hereby call upon every citizen of our city to assist the local Thrift Week

It Isn't in a Spirit of Bragging That We Say "We're Doing More Business Than Ever Before"

Business has never been easier to get. Good merchandise has never been harder to secure. The only store that can provide its customers with the thing they want at the right prices is the store that looked a long way ahead and prepared just as THE PASNIK CO. did.

Then, too, our different merchandising methods make it possible at all times to take advantage of any market advantage growing out of individual manufacturer's problems.

Our buyer, Mr. Pasnik, is always alert when there is a buying advantage to be gained for our customers.

And the fact that we've greatly increased this business in such short space of time is proof that we must be giving the people their money's worth.

And we say any store that can undersell our low prices is entitled to your business.

AT THE BREED SUNDAY.

A screen visualization of how gold often contaminates and ruins the very person it enriches, who comes presented with startling effect by Vitaphone's new picture, "The Golden Shower." This production, with Gladys Leslie in the stellar role, will be featured at the attraction at the Breed theatre Sunday evening.

Miss Lealle is cast in the role of Mary Kane, a country girl student at a great college, who becomes involved into the life of a dancing girl in a cabaret. She assumes the name of Mona McGree, and becomes the object of evil intentions by "Broadway" Campbell, a millionaire profligate. In the end she inherits his millions, but the fortune destroys the girl's name and reputation, and bids fair to ruin her for ever. However, Mary's character carries her through to a fine romance.

Other pictures on the bill include William Parsons in "New Breakfast Food," Topics of the Day," and "Elograms."

BREED THEATRE.

Henry B. Walthall heads the bill at the Breed theatre today in "The Long Arm of Mannister." In this photoplay Mr. Walthall has one of the greatest parts that he has ever played. The story which is taken from the brilliant novel of the same name by E. Phillips Oppenheim deals with the revenge which George Mannister, an outcasted husband and friend, visits upon those who played him false. The picture is rich in the variety of its scenic settings. It opens up with a view of the desert, then swings to the palatial halls of the rich. The unique hero in this tale spares neither money nor time to make his vengeance complete. With an invincible determination he traces the five men who attempted to ruin him across land and sea, mountains and desert, and one by one they are driven to despair and destruction. A big and notable cast supports Mr. Walthall. Among the names of the players assuming the leading roles may be mentioned Helene Chadwick, who recently appeared in the star in several productions of her own. As an added attraction Charlie Chaplin will be seen in "Police" and the Pathe News will complete the bill. Four shows today, at 1:30, 3, 6:15 and 8:15.

Davis Theatre Sunday.

Heartsease, Tom Moore's newest Goldwyn picture, is remarkable in many respects as will be seen when it comes to the Davis theatre Sunday evening. For the first time in his career the debonair star plays a romantic role. In the past his Goldwyn successes have been not without the romantic note, of course, for Tom Moore is essentially a lover; but never before has he assumed the joys and sorrows of a man like Eric Temple, the hero of Heartsease. And properly enough his love story is laid in the mellow atmosphere of Old England. Spacious gardens splendid old manor houses and dignified drawing rooms form a fitting background for the drama of Eric Temple's love for Margaret Neville (Helene Chadwick) and over all there is the spirit of youthful glamor and passion. Post Travel pictures, Topics of the Day, and a screamingly funny Sunshine comedy entitled Roaring Lions on the Mid-night Express completes the show.

Davis Theatre Today.

Blanche Sweet, the magnetic Jesse D. Hampton star, is the attraction at the Davis theatre today in a 7-part special Pathe feature, A Woman of Pleasure. It is a photo-dramatization of a melodrama written by James Willard and presented many years ago with great success at the famous Adelphi theatre in London. This theatre is a close competitor of the Drury Lane, famous for more than a century for its melodramas. A Woman of Pleasure is the stirring tale of a woman who married to escape poverty. Her callous husband weds her to a silent, the only witness of his crime. Then his handsome young mine superintendent enters the story and complicates matters by falling in love with the wife. In British South Africa the story is brought to a thrilling climax. In the second big feature on this programme the world's most beautiful woman, Katherine MacDonnell, will be seen in her latest production, The Beauty Market, a 8-part special production. International News and a funny Mutt & Jeff comedy completes the bill. Four shows today—at 1:30, 3:15, 6:15 and 8:15.

The Old Homestead Coming to Davis.

Plays may go and plays may come, but the great American classic, The Old Homestead, goes on forever. Now in its thirty-third year and still playing to capacity and without a waver, patronized not only by mothers and fathers, but the children as well. The production Augustus Pitou Inc. are bringing to the Davis theatre on Thursday, Jan. 22, contains all the action of the past years and a brand new and elaborate production maintaining the same delightful musical numbers as in former years. The famous double quartet—Grace church choir—the Swanzy and the Salvation Army.

Mr. William Lawrence, who has portrayed the role of "Old Josh" over twenty-eight hundred times, is still in the case, as is also George L. Patch, the old country fiddler for the past twenty-five years with The Old Homestead and many others, who have for many seasons been bringing laughter and tears in the most wholesome and human of all plays.
